

At the heart of the The Bicycling Capital of America you will find a 1902 Carnegie library building. The Sparta Free Library sits on a Historic Four Corners with the Post office (circa 1915), the Monroe County Courthouse (circa 1896), and the Monroe County Museum Complex, previously the Masonic Temple (circa 11922-1923).

The Sparta Free Library serves Sparta, WI and the surrounding communities, offering arts and educational programs, technology access and item check out for all ages. For more information visit the Sparta Free Library Website.
